Richard H. Evans

President and Chief Executive Officer Madison Square Garden Corporation

Richard H. Evans, president and chief executive officer of Madison Square Garden Corporation, directs all business segments of the organization. Shortly after assuming responsibility for the overall operations of the corporation, he launched a comprehensive reorganization to strengthen and open new markets in the sports, entertainment and communications fields.

Four operating groups form the foundation of this new organization: MSG Sports Group, which includes the New York Knickerbockers basketball franchise and the New York Rangers hockey franchise; MSG Communications Group, which consists of the Madison Square Garden Television Network, Madison Square Garden Radio Network, Madison Square Garden Home Video and Madison Square Garden Boxing; MSG Entertainment Group, comprised of Madison Square Garden Enterprises, which produces, co-produces and packages sports and entertainment events in the Garden and elsewhere, and Madison Square Garden Television Productions, a Los Angeles-based television production company which owns and produces the Miss Universe, Miss USA and Miss Teen USA beauty pageants and is also involved in the development of other specials for television; MSG Facilities Development and Management Group, which is responsible for the operations of Madison Square Garden Center and the major renovation of the Garden which is currently underway and scheduled for completion in September of 1991. In addition, this group is involved in the facilities development and management business on a contract basis.

Before joining the Garden, Mr. Evans was chairman, president and chief executive officer of Radio City Music Hall Productions, a Rockefeller Group Company. Under his direction, Radio City made significant profits in 1985 and again in 1986—the first profits in more than 30 years.

With a background in the leisure recreation industry, Mr. Evans' experience has included all facets of planning, management and operations. He was founder and president of Leisure General Corporation of Atlanta, a firm which specialized in the development and management of leisure/recreation entities, and was vice president and principal of Xcalibur Corporation of Atlanta, a firm which specialized in crisis management. He also held senior management positions with Mattel Corporation's Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, the Marriott Corporation, and Walt Disney Productions, where he was actively involved in the initial master planning, development and construction of Walt Disney World and subsequently responsible for the operation of the resort division at Walt Disney World.

As president of both the New York Knickerbockers and the New York Rangers, Mr. Evans serves on the board of governors of the National Basketball Association and National Hockey League. He is a trustee of the University of Denver, past chairman of the New York chapter of the Young Presidents' Organization and a current member of the International Board of Directors, director of the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau and a member of its executive committee, director of the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse and co-chairman of its Public Awareness Committee, a member of the Board of Directors of the New York City Sports Commission and chairman of the Amateur Sports sub-committee.

Mr. Evans received a bachelor's degree in business management from the University of Denver in June of 1966. He, his wife Carla and their children currently reside in Connecticut.

Madison Square Garden Corporation is part of the entertainment operations of Paramount Communications Inc.

John C. Diller

Executive Vice President
MSG Sports Group

Jack Diller, executive vice president of the Madison Square Garden Sports Group, began the restructuring of the New York Rangers franchise this past summer when he spearheaded a thorough review of the organization's policies and personnel. That review resulted in the hiring of vice-president and general manager Neil Smith and his new staff.

Jack is responsible for the operations of both the Rangers and the New York Knickerbockers and represents both as an alternate governor with the National Hockey League and the National Basketball Association.

In addition, Jack's wide range of responsibilities include coordinating the Rangers' operations with the other operating groups within Madison Square Garden.

Diller was initially associated with the Rangers from 1969 to 1974 as vice president, legal and business affairs, working closely with long-term Ranger president William M. Jennings.

A highly regarded executive with an extensive background in sports management, law, marketing and communications, Diller first returned to Madison Square Garden Corporation in April of 1987, prior to the creation of the Sports Group, as senior vice president, administration.

Diller's wide-ranging background also includes a one-year term as president of the New York State Sports Authority. Thereafter he operated his own management consulting and business advisory practice specializing in new electronic media and sports operations with corporate clients throughout the country.

From 1979-84, he was with RCTV, a nationally distributed cable television program service developed by the Rockefeller Group and RCA, where he served as executive vice president and chief operating officer.

Before returning to the Garden, Diller was senior marketing executive of the Men's International Professional Tennis Council and was executive vice president of COVIDEA, a videotex information system.

The formation of the MSG Sports Group in July of 1987 afforded Jack the opportunity to couple his hockey experience with his business and administrative talents in leading the continued development of the Rangers franchise and organization.

A graduate of Georgetown University and Yale Law School, Diller began his career with Simpson Thacher & Bartlett in the general practice of corporate and anti-trust law before coming to the Garden in 1969.

Jack and his wife, Holly, have three daughters: Raegen, 17, Corey, 14, and two-year-old Mary Clare. They reside in New York City.

David C. Peterson

Vice President-Business Affairs & Administration, MSG Sports Group

Dave Peterson brings 30 years of business experience and devotion to sports to the New York Rangers as vice president-business affairs and administration for the MSG Sports Group.

Dave joined Madison Square Garden on December 14, 1987, following an impressive three decades at New York Telephone and AT&T in wide-ranging management positions. Most recently, Peterson was executive vice president-finance and administration for AT&T's joint venture, COVIDEA, where he directed the financial, human resources, planning and facilities operations through the start-up phase.

Extremely well-rounded in finance and human resources due to his vast AT&T background, Dave assists executive vice president Jack Diller in making the Sports Group an organization responsive to the team's and players' needs and the company's goals, while striving to make the Sports Group a successful business organization. His duties also include preparing budgets and business plans for the Sports Group, and coordinating the Rangers non-team business operations.

For the past 13 years, Dave has been heavily involved with the United States Olympic efforts, and currently serves as vice chairman of the finance committee of the U.S. Olympics Committee. In fact, he traveled to Seoul, Korea, to take in a portion of the '88 Summer Olympic Games. "America needs more heroes," says Peterson. "That's why I love to see America's children succeed and do well."

Peterson is a member of the Board of Directors of the Jesse Owens Foundation, as well as a member of the Board of American Humanics, which emphasizes community services at inner city colleges.

A native of Deep River, Connecticut, a town deep in athletic tradition, Dave captained all sports in high school. Peterson is a graduate of Colgate, where he starred in both baseball and soccer. He is an accomplished tennis player and a tournament player in platform tennis. Dave and his wife of 31 years, Ruth, reside in Basking Ridge, New Jersey, and have two children, Dave Jr. and Robyn.

Neil Smith

Vice President and General Manager

At 35 years of age, Neil Smith has realized a lifetime ambition—that of becoming a National Hockey League general manager. Not any general managership, but that of the New York Rangers, one of the NHL's original six teams and one of the highest profile jobs in all of hockey.

Named to the position of vice-president and general manager on July 17, Smith went to work quickly. On the job less than a month, he put together a very impressive management team that brought immediate respect to the organization. The "team" includes assistant general manager/operations Gord Stellick, assistant general manager/player development Larry Pleau, head coach Roger Neilson, development coach Paul Theriault and assistant coach Ron Smith.

"I'm convinced that these men are key pieces in the success the Rangers will have," Neil says. "One reason I feel confident is because I know they share my belief that you have to look long-range—not what do we need to succeed today, but what do we need to guarantee success tomorrow and next year."

The native of Toronto, Ontario, who is the NHL's youngest general manager, is a hockey "addict" who believes you build a contender by scouting thoroughly, drafting wisely and developing carefully.

"I do have a plan to raise the organizational level of the New York Rangers to the level of the more highly-respected teams in the NHL. And, it's a plan that goes into effect immediately," he adds.

Smith played junior hockey at Brockville, Ontario, before entering Western Michigan University, where he became an All-America defenseman as a freshman and team captain in his second year.

In four years at Western Michigan, Neil totaled 116 assists and 136 points, both second on the school's all-time list.

Drafted by the New York Islanders in the 1974 Universal Entry Draft, Neil went on to play two seasons in the International Hockey League with the Kalamazoo Wings and Dayton Gems.

Upon the completion of his playing days following the 1979-80 season, he became a part-time scout with the Islanders for a season. In 1981-82, he was named as a full-time Islander scout and remained in that position until 1982-83.

While with the Islanders, Neil spent considerable time at Madison Square Garden scouting the Rangers, and he fell in love with Manhattan.

"I love the pulse of New York," he says. "There's an electric feeling whenever you're in New York. It's the capital of the world, and the New York Rangers are symbolic of that."

In 1982-83, he joined the Detroit Red Wings organization as director of professional scouting and the following season he took on added responsibilities as director of Detroit's entire farm system.

Neil was then named the Wings' director of scouting/player procurement and general manager and governor of the Adirondack Red Wings of the American Hockey League in 1985-86. In his first season he guided Adirondack to a first place finish and the Calder Cup championship. In his last season, 1988-89, the team again finished in first place and won the Calder Cup.

He remained in that position until July 17, when he was named vice-president and general manager of the Rangers at a press conference in the Felt Forum.

"Obviously, today is a very exciting day in the history of the New York Rangers," said the executive vice-president of the MSG Sports Group, Jack Diller, at the press conference. "We are extremely proud to be adding a man of Neil's talents and capabilities to the Rangers organization. His accomplishments are well-known in hockey circles, and we look forward to his leadership as a new era begins in the history of the New York Rangers."

Neil married the former Katia Haydamous on August 11 and they live in New York City.

Larry Pleau

Assistant General Manager/ Player Development

After 20 years in hockey, there is very little that Larry Pleau has not done. Thus, it wasn't a surprise when Rangers vice-president and general manager Neil Smith tabbed Pleau as the Rangers assistant general manager in charge of player development.

Larry played three seasons with the Montreal Canadiens (1969-70 – 1971-72) in the National Hockey League, before being the first player signed by the Hartford Whalers of the World Hockey Association. He was a center/left wing for the Whalers from 1972 until his retirement in 1979. His honors include playing in three WHA All-Star games, the 1968 United States Olympic Team, the 1969 U.S. National Team and he also played with Team USA in the 1976 Canada Cup Tournament.

Pleau, 42, retired in 1980 and became an assistant coach with the Whalers and remained in that position until Feb. 20, 1981, when he took the reins as head coach.

The following season, the native of Lynn, Mass., added to his responsibilities as head coach and became the club's director of hockey operations.

After two seasons in that position and a year as assistant general manager under Emile Francis, Pleau became director of hockey operations and head coach of the Binghamton Whalers of the American Hockey League in 1984-85. In 1986-87 he was named AHL coach of the year.

Larry remained with Binghamton for three and a half seasons before returning to Hartford as head coach for the remainder of the 1987-88 campaign and all of the 1988-89 season.

Larry and his wife, Wendy, live in the Hartford area with their son, Steve, and daughter, Shannon.

Gord Stellick

Assistant General Manager/ Operations

Gord Stellick enters his first season as assistant general manager/operations with the Rangers, after spending 14 years in the Toronto Maple Leafs organization.

Stellick, 32, joined the Maple Leafs in 1975 and worked part-time in various capacities, including administration, operations and public relations.

In 1979-80 he also worked on a part-time basis for the National Hockey League's Central Scouting Bureau and remained there for the year.

The next season, Gord worked with the Leafs on a full-time basis as a special assistant to general manager Punch Imlach and in 1986 he was promoted to assistant general manager of the Leafs and general manager of Toronto's American Hockey League affiliate, the Newmarket Saints.

On April 28, 1988, at just 30 years of age, the native of Toronto, Ontario, was named general manager of the Maple Leafs, becoming the youngest general manager in the history of the NHL.

Stellick, who graduated from the University of Toronto in 1982 with a degree in economics, resigned from his position with the Leafs on August 11.

Stellick has two younger brothers and one younger sister. His brother, Bob, is the public relations director of the Maple Leafs and his youngest brother, Craig, is autistic and for the past 10 years Gord has been actively involved in the Ontario Society for Autistic Persons.

Gord is single and resides in Manhattan.

Roger Neilson

Head Coach

"This is a very exciting day for the future of the New York Rangers," commented Neil Smith, the Rangers' vice-president and general manager, as he announced the signing of Roger Neilson, the 24th head coach in the 64-year history of the team.

Neilson comes to New York with a reputation as a solid tactician and is considered one of hockey's foremost strategists. Known as an NHL pioneer in the use of videotape for scouting and coaching, Roger is a student of the game, who uses every instructional and research aid known to coaching.

After playing minor hockey in the Toronto area in the mid-sixties, Roger joined the Peterborough Petes of the Ontario Hockey Association (which was a fully-sponsored farm club of the Montreal Canadiens), in a scouting role. He became coach of the Petes before the start of the 1966-67 season and remained for 10 seasons. While there, Peterborough won one OHA championship and finished lower than third only twice.

His success in junior hockey led him to the professional ranks in 1976-77, when he was named head coach of the Dallas Black Hawks of the Central Hockey League.

After only one season in Dallas, he entered the National Hockey League as head coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs. In two seasons with the Leafs (1977-78 and 1978-79) he produced two winning campaigns, the last winning seasons that Toronto has had. In his first year, Neilson also took the club to the semi-finals in the playoffs.

Roger was named as associate coach of the Buffalo Sabres in June of 1979 under Scotty Bowman and took the head coaching duties with 26 games remaining in the season. The next season he was behind the bench the entire year as he led the Sabres to a record of 39-20-21.

In June of 1981, Neilson joined the Vancouver Canucks as associate coach under Harry Neale. Late in the 1981-82 campaign, Neilson took the reins of the team when Neale was suspended and went 4-0-1. He continued to coach the club in the playoffs and Vancouver, who finished the regular-season 11th overall, eliminated Calgary, Los Angeles and Chicago before being stopped by the New York Islanders.

His last head coaching stint was in 1983-84 when he succeeded Don Perry as coach of the Los Angeles Kings for the final 28 games of the season.

In 1984, Neilson became a co-coach under Bob Pulford with the Chicago Blackhawks and remained in that position for three seasons. Over the past two seasons, he has worked for the Hawks in a scouting capacity and has also done some broadcasting for Canadian television.

Roger, who has a degree in physical education from McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario, is single and spends the off-season in Lakefield, Ontario. His constant companion is his dog, Mike, a white Labrador, who accompanies him virtually everywhere he goes.

Wayne Cashman
Assistant Coach

After 16 seasons as a player with the Boston Bruins, Wayne Cashman is now beginning his third full season as a Rangers assistant coach. "Cash" will be assisting new coach Roger Neilson in many areas, including the on-ice preparation of the team.

Always known as a player with a tremendous work ethic and a love for the game, Wayne began with the Rangers as a scout for the New England area in August of 1987. After only three months as a scout, he was named as an assistant coach.

As a coach, Cashman has the same loyalty and enthusiasm that he had as a player.

Joining the Bruins for the start of the 1964-65 season, Wayne, a left wing, played 16 seasons, before retiring following the 1982-83 campaign. He was Boston's captain from 1977-78 until his retirement.

Cashman currently ranks second on the Bruins' all-time list in games played (1,027), fifth in goals (277), points (793) and in career assists (516).

A native of Kingston, Ontario, Cashman, 44, helped Boston to two Stanley Cup championships (1969-70 and 1971-72). He played in a total of 145 playoff games, most in club history, notching 31 goals and 57 assists for 88 points.

Wayne and his wife, Lyn, live in Allentown, Pennsylvania, with their two children, Becky and Scott.

Ron Smith
Assistant Coach

Ron Smith, who coached the Guelph Platers of the Ontario Hockey League last season and who has been an assistant with four National Hockey League teams was selected by head coach Roger Neilson as an assistant coach on August 15.

The 45-year-old Smith was Neilson's top assistant coach for two years in Toronto, two seasons in Buffalo and two and a half years in Vancouver. He also served as associate coach with the New Jersey Devils under Doug Carpenter for a season and a half.

The native of Galt, Ontario, began his coaching career with Guelph (Tier II) in 1972-73 and remained there until 1975-76. Ron served as head coach at York University in Ontario for one season (1978-79) and he spent the 1985-86 campaign as an assistant coach and director of player personnel for the Canadian Olympic program.

Smith also worked for eight years as technical director of the Ontario Association and was instrumental in the creation of the National Coaching Certification program for Canadian coaches. Ron also teamed with Carpenter during the 1985 World Championships in Prague, leading Team Canada to a silver medal.

Ron played baseball in the San Francisco Giants organization in the mid-sixties where he was teammates with Bobby Bonds and Tito Fuentes. He spends the off-season in Toronto with his wife, Patti, and their two sons, Landry and Devin.

PAUL CYR

5-11 205 Shoots Left
Born: Oct. 31, 1963 Port Alberni, British Columbia
Off-Season Home: Mamaroneck, New York

1988-89: First full season as a Ranger was a complete washout as he injured his right knee on opening night in Chicago . . . Underwent major reconstructive surgery and was sidelined for the remainder of the campaign.

NHL CAREER: Buffalo's second choice (first round, ninth overall) in 1982 Entry Draft, he made his NHL debut in the Sabres' 1982 season opener and it took just 11:40 to score his first goal when he tallied against Dan Bouchard of Quebec . . . Highlight of his rookie season came on March 3 when he notched his only career hat trick in Buffalo's 3-2 victory at Boston . . . Finished the year in strong fashion collecting 23 points (13 goals, 10 assists) in Buffalo's final 25 regular-season contests . . . Spent part of the campaign (20 games) with Victoria of the WHL . . . Became a regular on the Sabres front line in '83-84 appearing in 71 games while scoring 16 goals and 27 assists . . . Missed eight matches late in the season due to a fractured finger . . . Went on to play in at least 70 games in each of the next three seasons . . . Tallied a career high 22 goals in '84-85 . . . Had just two goals and three assists after the first 20 games, but accumulated 20 goals and 21 assists in the team's last 60 tilts including a five-game goal scoring streak from Dec. 9 thru Dec. 19 . . . Best point total was collected the following season as he scored 51 points in 71 games and nearly doubled his penalty minutes from the previous year with a total of 120, third among Sabres' forwards . . . Offensive totals dropped off the following season to 11 goals and 27 points as he was used mostly on the Sabres' top checking line and spent considerable time on the penalty killing unit . . . 17 of his 27 points were tallied on the road . . . Set career highs for games played (73) and penalty minutes (122) . . . Acquired by the Rangers on Dec. 31, 1987, he made his New York debut that evening recording an assist in Rangers 6-1 triumph over Quebec . . . Appeared in 40 of New York's final 43 outings scoring a total of 17 points including six in his first seven contests as a Ranger . . . Had played in 20 games with Buffalo prior to the transaction . . . Missed 17 matches from mid-October to mid-November with a strained knee . . . Best career point production has come against Boston (24) and Hartford (19).

JUNIOR CAREER: Played two full seasons with Victoria of the WHL helping the Cougars to a cumulative record of 103-39-2 in 1980-81 and 1981-82 . . . Improved his offensive totals from 59 points (36 goals) in his first season to 108 (52 goals) in his second junior campaign . . . Selected as a second team WHL All-Star in 1981-82 . . . Played for Team Canada in the 1981-82 and 1982-83 World Junior Championships.

BACKGROUND: Has played all three forward positions during his NHL career . . . An aggressive player, who will go into the corners and dig . . . Hard worker, he never gives up the battle for the puck . . . Suffered a fractured ankle in the summer of 1986 while playing in a charity softball game and missed training camp . . . Was shot in the abdomen while vacationing in the Dominican Republic in May of 1987, but recovered in time for the start of the season . . . Friendly, easy going personality with a good sense of humor . . . Had split his off-season between the Buffalo area and British Columbia until spending this past summer in the New York area . . . Wore number 18 and number eight while with Sabres . . . Married wife, Cheryl.

ULF DAHLEN

6-2 196 Shoots Left
Born: January 12, 1967 Ostersund, Sweden
Off-Season Home: Ostersund, Sweden

1988-89: Started the season in excellent fashion, scoring both Rangers goals on opening night, Oct. 6, a 2-2 deadlock in Chicago . . . The following game, Oct. 8 in St. Louis, he notched one goal and two assists in the Rangers 4-2 victory over the Blues . . . Went on to record 11 goals and 12 assists for 23 points in the team's first 23 games, helping the Rangers to first place in the Patrick Division with a mark of 12-8-3 . . . Injured his left shoulder on Nov. 26 at the Nassau Coliseum and missed the next three contests . . . His shoulder troubles continued through most of the second half of the season, as he missed 21 of the club's final 40 games . . . Re-injured his left shoulder on Jan. 14 in Pittsburgh, forcing him to miss 12 matches, returned to action for seven contests, before suffering an injury to his right shoulder on Feb. 25 in Quebec, sidelining him for the next nine contests . . . Despite missing a total of 24 games with the three shoulder injuries, he still scored 24 goals, fifth best on the club . . . Of the 24 tallies, 17 came at Madison Square Garden and eight were with a man-advantage . . . Notched two goals and two assists on Feb. 17 vs. Toronto, recorded three points on two occasions and tallied four two-goal games . . . Led New York in scoring vs. Philadelphia with three goals and five assists in seven games . . . Upon the completion of the Rangers season, he played for the Swedish team at the World Championships in Stockholm, Sweden . . . Scored two goals and two assists in the 10 contests, playing mostly on a line with Rangers' teammate Tomas Sandstrom and the Devils' Anders Carlsson.

NHL CAREER: Drafted by the Rangers as the seventh overall selection in the 1985 Entry Draft, he became the second highest Swedish player ever taken in the draft (Bjorn Johansson was selected by the Calgary Flames as the fifth overall pick in the 1976 Entry Draft) . . . Was unable to join the Rangers until the start of the 1987-88 campaign, due to commitments to the Swedish National Team and the Swedish Army . . . Made his National Hockey League debut on Oct. 8, 1987 . . . In his third contest, Oct. 23 vs. Chicago at MSG, he connected for his first three NHL goals as the Rangers bested the Blackhawks, 7-3 . . . The hat trick proved to be the only three-goal game by a Ranger the entire season . . . Finished the season with 29 goals, fourth highest total of any rookie in Rangers' history and ranked fourth among all NHL rookies . . . Also ranked fourth among all freshmen in points (52), power play goals (11), and shots on goal (159) . . . Named as Ranger Rookie of the Year by the members of the Rangers Fan Club.

SWEDISH CAREER: Played his first two years with Ostersund jumping from 26 points in 1983-84 to a league leading total of 59 points (33 goals, 26 assists) the following season . . . Captained Sweden in the European Championships in April of 1985, winning the scoring title with seven goals while being selected as the tourney's best forward . . . Joined Bjorkloven in 1985-86 where he was used sparingly by his coach Tommy Sandlin since he was only 18 years-old . . . In 22 games he scored four goals and three assists . . . Played for Bjorkloven again in 1986-87 notching nine goals and 12 assists in 37 games, while recording a plus 22 rating . . . Was used primarily in a defensive role and as a penalty killer by coach Hans Lindber . . . Had an excellent playoff collecting six goals in six games, helping to lead his team to the championship . . . Scored eight goals in the 1987 Junior World Championships, where he was named Most Valuable Player as Sweden won the tournament.

BACKGROUND: Well liked by his teammates, he has an easy going personality with an excellent sense of humor . . . Never turns down a request for an appearance, he always makes himself available for charitable organizations . . . Helped run a clinic for children in Westchester County at the Rangers training base in Rye, New York, in October . . . Started skating at two years of age . . . Likes to play golf and tennis, although he is not very good at either sport . . . Enjoys rock music, he is often seen at Madison Square Garden concerts . . . Single.

JAN ERIXON

Born: July 8, 1962 Skelleftea, Sweden
Off-Season Home: Skelleftea, Sweden

1988-89: Sixth season in a Ranger uniform was severely limited due to a pair of injuries ... Missed 17 games from Nov. 2 thru Dec. 6 with a sprained right knee and was sidelined for another 17 contests from Feb. 18 thru Mar. 25 due to lower back spasms ... Defensive specialist continued to be assigned to check the league's top scorers, particularly Mario Lemieux ... Held the NHL's scoring champion to four goals and five assists with 18 shots in five appearances against the Penguins ... Recorded the third two-goal game of his NHL career including the game-winner against Quebec on Oct. 23 and followed that up with the deciding goal (15:17 of third period) along with two assists in 6-5 win at Philadelphia on Oct. 29 ... As typifies his play, his assists carried as much impact as his goals as three of his four assists from Jan. 7 thru Jan. 19 came on game-winning goals: vs. the Islanders (DeBlois goal) on 1/7, vs. the Penguins on 1/15 (Miller goal) and on 1/19 against the Blues (Shaw goal) ... Collected two goals and four assists at the Garden and two goals and seven assists on the road ... 44 games played was the second lowest total of his NHL career.

NHL CAREER: Selected by the Rangers on the second round of the 1981 Entry Draft, he had to fulfill his military obligation before joining New York in 1983-84 ... Scored his initial NHL goal in the team's third game of the '83-84 campaign playing left wing on a line with Anders Hedberg and Mark Pavelich as the Rangers defeated the Penguins by a 6-1 score ... Recorded the third best plus/minus rating on the team (+14) and the seventh best among rookie regulars in the NHL ... Scored seven goals and 22 assists the following season with 21 of the 29 points coming on the road ... Limited to only 31 games in 1985-86 by left leg injuries including a fractured left tibia suffered on Jan. 12 ... Accumulated an NHL high eight goals in 1986-87 including pair of two-goal performances ... Defensive contributions were finally rewarded in '87-88 as he was selected as one of the three finalists for the Frank Selke Trophy which goes to the best defensive forward in the NHL ... Guy Carbonneau and Steve Kasper were the other finalists with Carbonneau winning the award ... Is a cumulative plus 18 after six seasons with New York ... Best career scoring has come against the Devils with four goals and 15 assists in 33 games ... Has 16 career goals at the Garden and 17 on the road ... 77 of his lifetime total of 145 points have been at the expense of Patrick Division teams.

SWEDISH CAREER: The year he was drafted by the Rangers he was selected for the Swedish Junior National Team that captured the 1980-81 World Championship ... Played four seasons with Skelleftea of the Swedish Hockey League with his best offensive production coming in 1982-83 when he tallied 10 goals and 18 assists for 28 points in 36 contests ... Finished with career totals of 32 goals and 34 assists for 66 points in 130 tilts.

BACKGROUND: Versatile player, has played all three forward positions during his professional career ... Willing to absorb a lot of punishment in order to complete his checking, boardwork and penalty killing ... Great balance on his skates, he is tough to beat one-on-one ... Winner of inaugural Steven McDonald Extra Effort award for going "above and beyond the call of duty during the 1987-88 season" ... An excellent team player, he is highly respected by all players ... Returns to Sweden during the summer where he and Ulf Dahlen own two trotters named Indiana Bones and Quick Day, but he's trying to buy Ulfie out ... Speaks almost fluent English ... Favorite baseball team is the New York Mets ... Big Bruce Springsteen fan ... Single.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 10, 1981—Rangers' second round choice (30th overall) in 1981 Entry Draft.

NHL CAREER: Originally an 11th round choice by St. Louis in the 1978 Amateur Draft, he was left unprotected in 1981 and claimed as a free agent by Philadelphia . . . Called up from the Maine Mariners of the American Hockey League in January of 1983, he went on to post a 12-0-1 mark in his first 13 NHL games, falling one contest short of tying an NHL record for consecutive games undefeated by a goalie at the start of a career . . . Registered a record of 28-13-7 in his first full season the following year . . . Enjoyed a spectacular season in 1985-86, winning the Jennings Trophy (along with Darren Jensen) for the best combined goals-against average in the NHL, 2.99 . . . Also led all goalies in average (2.55), save percentage (.909), and shutouts (five), while tying John Vanbiesbrouck with 31 victories . . . Had a record of 92-29-12 with 12 shutouts in his four-plus seasons with Philadelphia before being dealt to New York on Dec. 18, 1986 . . . Has a lifetime record against the Patrick Division of 46-26-2.

IHL AND AHL CAREER: Played for three seasons in the International Hockey League, including the 1980-81 season when his goals-against average over 43 games was an outstanding 2.98, and his average for 13 playoff contests was 2.16 . . . Appeared in 33 games in 1981-82 and 1982-83 with Maine of the American Hockey League accumulating a record of 34-22-7 before his call-up by the Flyers.

BACKGROUND: Stand-up goalie, he plays the angles very well . . . Very funny person, he always keeps the team loose . . . Bought an antique automobile restoration business in Saranac Lake, New York, named "Neales Enterprises" . . . The shop restores classic and antique automobiles . . . Has a passion for the outdoors . . . Does a lot of work in the summer with Christian hockey schools . . . Did not start playing ice-hockey—he preferred lacrosse—until he was 12 . . . Wore uniform number 35 while with the Flyers . . . Does numerous charitable appearances on behalf of the club and he is an excellent spokesman for the club . . . Enjoys fishing, water sports and spending time with his family . . . Married: wife, Ruth; three sons, Robbie, David and James.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 15, 1978—St. Louis' 11th round choice (160th overall) in the 1978 Amateur Draft. June 18, 1981—Signed by Philadelphia as a free agent. Dec. 18, 1986—Traded by Philadelphia to Rangers for Kjell Samuelsson and a 1989 second round draft choice.

TONY GRANATO

5-10 175 Shoots Right
Born: July 25, 1964 Downers Grove, Illinois
Off-Season Home: Downers Grove, Illinois

1988-89: Spunky forward made the club with an excellent training camp and became the surprise of the season, leading New York with 36 goals . . . Was a finalist for the Calder Trophy as the league's top rookie, won by teammate Brian Leetch . . . The pair were nicknamed "The Super Rookies" by the New York media early in the season . . . In addition to leading the Rangers with 36 goals, he also led the club with a +17 rating and four shorthanded goals, was second in games played (78) and third in shots on goal (234) . . . Among National Hockey League rookies, his 36 goals and four shorthanded tallies were first, 64 points and 234 shots ranked second and +17 rating was third . . . Broke Ranger rookie record for most goals in a season, previously held by Mark Pavelich, who scored 33 times in 1981-82 . . . Named NHL's Rookie of the Month for his performance in January as he notched 12 goals and eight assists for 20 points in 20 contests . . . Tallied four goals vs. Pittsburgh on Oct. 30, helping the Rangers to a 9-2 victory . . . Recorded three goals and one assist in Pittsburgh on Jan. 14, as the Rangers and Penguins played to a 4-4 deadlock . . . Third hat trick came in his hometown of Chicago on Jan. 18 as New York bested the Blackhawks 6-4 . . . The three hat tricks established a new record for a Ranger rookie . . . Scored at least one goal in six straight games (Jan. 9–Jan. 21), longest goal scoring streak of the season, notching 10 goals over the span . . . Recorded 32 points in the first half of the campaign and 31 in the second . . . Initial NHL goal came on Oct. 23 at the Garden in a 8-2 Ranger victory.

IHL CAREER: Joined the Colorado Rangers after the completion of the 1988 Olympics and helped them to finish in first place in the International Hockey League's West Division . . . Tallied 13 goals and 14 assists for 27 points in 22 regular-season games and nine goals and four assists in eight playoff games . . . The nine playoff goals led the club and his 13 points were third.

U.S. OLYMPIC TEAM: Began the road to the Olympics in August of 1987 with a pre-Olympic schedule of 49 games, scoring 40 goals and 31 assists for 71 points . . . At the games in Calgary, he notched one goal and seven assists in six games.

U.S. NATIONAL TEAM: In addition to the Olympics, he played on the 1985, 1986 and 1987 United States National Teams . . . Also played for the Junior National Teams in 1983 and 1985 . . . Had five goals and 10 assists in four appearances at the U.S. Olympic festivals.

RON GRESCHNER

Born: December 22, 1954 Goodsoil, Saskatchewan
Off-Season Home: Greenwich, Connecticut

1988-89: Completed his 15th season in a Ranger uniform and appeared in his 900th game on January 4 against Washington, only the fourth player in club history to reach that mark . . . Final point of the season, an assist on March 26 vs. Pittsburgh, was his 600th as a Ranger, fifth most in team history . . . Only goal of the season was tallied on Dec. 8 in Hartford . . . Plus nine rating ranked fourth on the team . . . Eight of his 10 assists were collected at the Garden . . . Missed a total of 15 games due to injuries and was suspended for for the final three regular-season games for abuse of an official . . . Had a minus rating in only 18 of his 58 contests . . . Rangers had record of 32-20-6 in the games he played . . . 94 penalty minutes lifted his career total to 1,173, most in Rangers' history surpassing the previous leader, Harry Howell, who accumulated 1,147.

NHL CAREER: A second round draft choice in 1974, he joined the Rangers after just seven games of minor league seasoning . . . His rink-length rushes and all-out offensive style were immediate hits with Garden fans . . . Made his debut on Nov. 3 in a home game vs. Buffalo and after Ron Harris injured his knee early in the contest, the 19-year-old rookie found himself taking a regular shift and he tallied his first NHL point with an assist on a goal by Derek Sanderson . . . A little more than a month later he scored his initial NHL goal against Ken Dryden of Montreal . . . There have been 177 goals since then, 13th most in club history . . . Has reached the 20-goal mark on four occasions with a high of 27 in 1980-81 . . . Became the highest scoring defenseman in Ranger history on Nov. 11, 1981 when his assist on Dave Silk's goal brought his career total to 379, one more than Brad Park accumulated as a Ranger . . . Has appeared in 11 playoffs with New York, most in team history and his total of 49 playoff points ties him for fourth most with Steve Vickers . . . Served as Rangers team captain from October 9, 1986 to December 3, 1987 . . . Only hat trick of his career was notched on March 22, 1978 against Phil Myre of St. Louis . . . Selected for the 1979 NHL All-Star team . . . Shoulder injuries sidelined him for parts of the '78-79 and '84-85 seasons and back miseries cost him considerable playing time in the '81-82 and '82-83 campaigns . . . Best career goal scoring has come against the Islanders (19) and Canucks (15) . . . Has 51 career power play goals, 19 game-winners, six shorthanded scores, 12 two-goal efforts, with 85 of his goals scored at home and 93 on the road.

JUNIOR CAREER: Scored 56 goals and 126 assists for 182 points in 179 games in his three years at New Westminster of the Western Hockey League . . . In 1973-74, his last year with the Bruins, he became the team captain, while setting a WHL record for most points by a defenseman in one season, 103, breaking the record of former Ranger Larry Sacharuk . . . Was also selected to the All-Star team that season.

BACKGROUND: Has considerable playing experience at left wing and center during his tenure with New York . . . Very popular with his teammates, as long as he's been around, his enthusiasm still abounds . . . Always cooperative with the media, he received the Rangers Good Guy Award in 1985-86 as voted by the New York Chapter of the Professional Hockey Writers Association . . . Owned and operated the Ron Greschner Hockey Camp for several years . . . Has traveled throughout Europe over the past few summers . . . Was born and raised in Goodsoil, Saskatchewan, where his father ran the local hotel. . . Married: wife, Carol.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: May 28, 1974—Rangers second round choice (32nd overall) in 1974 Amateur Draft.

MARK HARDY

5-11 195 Shoots Left
Born: February 1, 1959 Semaden, Switzerland
Off-Season Home: Bloomington, Minnesota

1988-89: Re-acquired from the Minnesota North Stars on Dec. 9 when injuries to Brian Leetch, James Patrick and Normand Rochefort depleted the Rangers defensive corps . . . Had played 19 games with New York in '87-88 before being dealt to Minnesota in June . . . Notched two goals and four assists in 15 contests with the North Stars collecting a goal against Toronto on Nov. 14 and vs. Boston on Dec. 1. . . Began his second tour with New York on Dec. 10 in Boston and stepped right in and took a regular shift as the Rangers and Bruins battled to a 1-1 tie . . . Wore the same uniform number (14) he had in his first stint with New York . . . Put on an impressive offensive show at Vancouver on Jan. 21 breaking in on left wing to finish off a three-on-two rush flipping a feed from Tomas Sandstrom over Canuck goalie Kirk McLean to start a three-goal Ranger comeback . . . On a power play shift in the third period he fed a pass into the slot to set up a Tony Granato goal to tie the game, which New York went on to win on Kelly Kisio's score in overtime . . . Other multiple-point outing was a goal and an assist against Minnesota on Feb. 5 . . . Missed a total of six games in March with an injured left wrist.

NHL CAREER: Kings third selection (30th overall) in 1979 Entry Draft, he began the 1979-80 season with Los Angeles before being sent to Binghamton of the AHL where he played the majority of the campaign . . . Was recalled for first round playoff series against the Islanders and his first NHL goal was an unassisted score against Bill Smith on April 11 . . . Spent the entire '80-81 season with Los Angeles, paired for most of the year with Jerry Korab . . . Second among Kings defensemen in scoring in '81-82 as he collected a career high 130 penalty minutes . . . Led Los Angeles defensemen in scoring in 1983-84 and 1984-85 . . . Recorded career best 53 points in '84-85 with eight of his 14 goals coming on the power play . . . Missed the first 25 games of the '85-86 season with a wrist injury suffered during training camp . . . Won the Kings' Emery Edge Award in 1986-87 with his plus 16 rating and was selected as the team's outstanding backliner in '84-85 and '86-87 . . . Appeared in his 500th NHL match on Jan. 31 in Montreal . . . Currently ranks as the Kings' all-time leading scorer among defensemen with 297 points in 589 games . . . Traded to Rangers on Feb. 22, 1988 for Ron Duguay, he appeared in the team's final 19 contests after making his New York debut on Feb. 25 against the Penguins . . . Collected his 300th NHL point with an assist against Washington on March 16 . . . 26 of his 59 NHL goals have been tallied on the power play . . . Best career scoring has come against the Canucks with 32 points in 52 contests.

JUNIOR CAREER: Played four seasons with Montreal of the QJHL . . . Best offensive season was 1977-78 when he notched 82 points in 72 games and was named the league's outstanding defenseman . . . Was a first team QJHL All-Star in '77-78 and a third team selection in '78-79 . . . Also was selected as a junior to play for Quebec All-Stars in the Labatt Cup Tournament . . . Defensive partner during most of his junior hockey days was Robert Picard.

BACKGROUND: Is the only NHL player born in Switzerland . . . His father played hockey in Europe and his mother was a member of England's 1952 Olympic team, placing seventh in figure skating . . . Is the oldest of three children, he started skating at the age of two . . . Wore uniform number 20 his first seven years with Los Angeles before switching to five in 1986-87 . . . Not a flashy defenseman, he doesn't rely on stick checks or fancy maneuvers, just hits hard and gets the job done . . . Is nicknamed "Harpo" . . . Has considerable experience on the power play and killing penalties . . . Played with Marcel Dionne and Joe Paterson while with Kings . . . Married: wife, Kristina; daughter, Jessica.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: Aug. 9, 1979—Los Angeles' third choice (30th overall) in 1979 Entry Draft. Feb. 22, 1988—Traded by Los Angeles to Rangers for Ron Duguay. June 13, 1988—Traded by Rangers to Minnesota for a 1989 third round draft choice (Louie Debrusk). Dec. 9, 1988—Traded by Minnesota to Rangers for Larry Bernard and a 1989 fifth round draft choice (Rhys Hollyman).

BRIAN MULLEN

Born: March 16, 1962 New York, New York
Off-Season Home: Mamaroneck, New York

1988-89: Got off to a fast start with four goals and five assists in his first eight games, including his second career hat trick (first as a Ranger) in a 5-1 Rangers win over the Capitals on Oct. 19 at MSG . . . Continued his hot streak right through January, notching 22 goals and 25 assists for 47 points in his first 46 matches . . . On Jan. 24 he was selected by Bruins' coach Terry O'Reilly to represent the Rangers in the National Hockey League All-Star Game . . . The next day his brother Joe, of the Calgary Flames, was selected to play for the Campbell Conference, making the pair the first ever U.S.-born brothers to play in an All-Star Game . . . Recorded his 400th NHL point on Jan. 30 against the Islanders and played in his 500th career game on Feb. 9 vs. Winnipeg . . . Led the club with a career high five game-winning goals, ranked third on the team with 29 goals and 64 points, 217 shots on goal were fourth and his total of 35 assists ranked fifth on the Rangers, while his +7 was third best among New York forwards . . . Accumulated 18 goals and 17 assists for 35 points on the road and eight goals and nine assists on the power play . . . After the Rangers season ended, he joined the United States team for the World Championships in Stockholm, Sweden . . . In 10 games, he registered two goals and three assists.

NHL CAREER: Selected on the seventh round by Winnipeg in 1980 becoming the first New York City player drafted directly from a local New York team . . . Spent the '79-80 season with the New Jersey Rockets of the Metropolitan Junior Hockey Association after playing the previous five years with the New York Westsiders . . . Appeared in all 80 games in his rookie season ('82-83) with Winnipeg scoring 24 goals and leading the team with a plus 11 rating . . . Averaged 59 points per season in his five years with the Jets enjoying four seasons of 21 goals or better, hitting a career high of 32 goals and 71 points in 1984-85 . . . First career hat trick was collected against Doug Soetaert of Montreal on March 19, 1986 . . . 57 of his 178 career goals have come on the power play.

COLLEGE CAREER: Developed into an NHL candidate during his two years ('80-81 and '81-82) at the University of Wisconsin under Bob Johnson . . . Despite being hampered by injuries he was chosen as his team's rookie of the year and was instrumental in leading the Badgers to the NCAA Championship contributing 11 goals and 13 assists in 38 games . . . As a sophomore, Mullen once again was a pivotal member in Wisconsin's drive to repeat as national champs . . . In addition to his 19 goals and 16 assists, he anchored the specialty teams netting four goals on the power play and five while his team played shorthanded . . . Wound up as the fifth leading scorer throughout the NCAA Championships as the Badgers lost to the University of North Dakota in the final game.

BACKGROUND: Lived in an apartment building on 49th Street and 10th Avenue in the Hell's Kitchen area of Manhattan throughout his childhood . . . Along with his three older brothers, Ken, Tom and Joe (now with the Calgary Flames), he played roller hockey in the schoolyard of the New York School of Printing, which was located across the street from his apartment building . . . Did not start playing ice hockey until he was 12 years-old . . . His father worked on the maintenance crew at Madison Square Garden until his retirement four years ago . . . Worked as a stickboy for the Rangers from 1977 to 1979 . . . Got to meet some of his boyhood idols when he worked the 1979 Challenge Cup, which was played at the Garden . . . Brought his parents to Edmonton for the All-Star game . . . Named the winner of the Jerry Mitchell award for service to New York hockey by the members of the New York chapter of the Professional Hockey Writers Association . . . In January, along with teammate John Vanbiesbrouck, he conducted a clinic at the Lasker Rink in Central Park for the children in the Ice Hockey in Harlem program . . . Enjoys golf, softball, bowling and basketball, but lists his favorite off-day activity as spending time with his family . . . Wife, Linda; daughter, Nicole.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 11, 1980—Winnipeg's seventh round choice (128th overall) in 1980 Entry Draft. June 8, 1987—Traded by Winnipeg to Rangers with a 1987 10th round draft choice (Brett Barnett) for a fifth round draft pick in 1988 (Benoit Lebeau) and a third round pick in 1989 (Traded to St. Louis by Winnipeg, Denny Felsner).

Off-Season Home: Boston, Massachusetts

1988-89: Sidelined for more than half the season (42 games) with a strained ligament of the front pelvic bone . . . Appeared in the team's first 28 outings scoring five goals and seven assists before initially suffering the injury on Dec. 6 and missing four games . . . Returned on Dec. 17, playing in three contests before reinjuring himself . . . Did not return to the lineup until March 20 taking a regular shift in the Rangers final seven regular-season outings . . . Five of his seven goals were tallied on the road, including a pair of two-goal efforts against the Devils on Nov. 6 and the Red Wings on March 29 . . . Ranked second on the team with 177 penalty minutes, with 137 of the 177 registered in clashes against Patrick Division teams . . . Finished fourth on the team with his 17.9 shooting percentage.

NHL CAREER: Selected by Montreal on the 14th round of the 1978 Amateur Draft, the 231st player of the 234 claimed that year . . . Split his first professional season between the Canadiens and their American Hockey League affiliate, the Nova Scotia Voyageurs . . . Made his NHL debut on Feb. 26, 1980 as the Canadiens and Flames battled to a 3-3 tie in Atlanta . . . In his fourth contest he collected his first NHL point with an assist on a goal by Pierre Mondou against Philadelphia and received his first fighting major for an altercation with Bob Kelly . . . Initial NHL goal was tallied on Nov. 22, 1980 vs. Pete Peeters of the Flyers at 3:55 of the second period and his second goal came at 9:14 of the same period and it was the game-winner in Montreal's 7-3 victory . . . Best offensive numbers were compiled from '83-84 thru '84-86 as he notched a total of 56 goals during that span including 21 in '84-85 . . . Comes into the current campaign three goals and four assists shy of 100 . . . Career total of 2,447 penalty minutes is third most in NHL history behind Dave Williams and Willi Plett . . . Led the NHL in penalty minutes in 1983-84 (338) and 1984-85 (358) and was the Montreal team leader in all seven of his full seasons with the team . . . Best career goal scoring has come against Hartford (12) and Quebec (10) . . . Registered an assist in his first game as a Ranger on Jan. 28, 1988 helping New York to a 5-2 victory in Philadelphia and tallied his first goal as a Ranger in the next game at Boston Garden as the Rangers defeated the Bruins by a 4-2 score . . . In his third outing (Feb. 2) at Nassau Coliseum he suffered a knee injury that sidelined him for the next nine games . . . Rangers posted a record of 14-5-3 in the games he played.

CANADA CUP: Played on the United States National Team in the 1987 Canada Cup Tournament and scored two goals in five games, including the game-winning score in the United States' 5-2 victory over Sweden on Aug. 31.

AHL CAREER: Began the 1979-80 season with the Nova Scotia Voyageurs before he was brought up to the Canadiens . . . Even though he played in only 49 games before his call-up, he led the league in penalty minutes with 304.

COLLEGE CAREER: While playing for Catholic Memorial High, he caught the eye of a Boston judge named Paul King, one of the city's best coaches, and won a hockey scholarship to Northeastern University . . . Played one season of college hockey before going to Canadiens training camp in September of 1979.

BACKGROUND: Grew up in the West Roxbury section of Massachusetts where his boyhood goal was to play for the Bruins and his idol was Bobby Orr . . . Leadership and enthusiasm is felt both on the ice and in the dressing room, he is one of the best team players to ever put on an NHL uniform . . . Gives readily of his time to charitable activities and never turns down an opportunity to work with hospitalized youngsters . . . Father, Henry, spent 20 years in the Army's 11th Special Forces Group . . . Has one brother and two sisters . . . Nickname is "Knuckles" . . . Has worn uniform number 30 throughout his NHL career . . . Married: wife, Karen; two children, Colleen and Christopher, Jr.

Born: January 28, 1961 Trois Rivieres, Quebec
Off-Season Home: Mamaroneck, New York

1988-89: First season in a Ranger uniform got off to an impressive start right from the beginning as he led all New York defensemen during pre-season with three goals . . . Very strong in the team's first eight regular-season outings scoring the game-winning goals against Vancouver on Oct. 16 and collecting four assists, including three in 8-2 victory over Quebec on Oct. 23 . . . Injured his right knee in that contest and missed the next five outings . . . Returned to the lineup on Nov. 8 for two contests before hurting the knee again . . . Underwent arthroscopic surgery on Dec. 1 and was out of action until Feb. 5 when he dressed for a match against Minnesota . . . Right knee did not last through the first period and he was forced to undergo major reconstructive surgery that sidelined him for the rest of the campaign.

NHL CAREER: Regular on the Nordiques backline for eight years since making his debut on Nov. 1, 1980 . . . Had been the team's first selection in the 1980 NHL Entry Draft . . . Initial NHL goal was tallied against Doug Soetaert of the Rangers on Dec. 30, 1980 . . . In his first full season with the Nordiques in '81-82 he led the team's defensemen with his plus 19 rating . . . Despite missing 16 games with a knee injury in 1982-83, he led Quebec defensemen with six goals while accumulating a plus 11 mark . . . Recorded a career high 22 assists in 1983-84 along with a plus 41 rating, one of the highest marks in the league that season . . . 1985-86 campaign was curtailed by a separated shoulder that sidelined him for more than 50 games . . . Appeared in 70 matches in '86-87 and tied his career high for goals with six . . . Missed considerable playing time in '87-88 with several injuries, collecting three goals and 10 assists . . . Selected for the NHL All-Stars for the series against the Soviet Union in Rendez-Vous '87 . . . Was a key member of the defensive unit for Team Canada as they won the Canada Cup tournament in 1987 . . . Most productive career scoring has come vs. a pair of Adams Division opponents, six goals and 13 assists vs. Buffalo and three goals and 12 assists against Boston.

JUNIOR CAREER: Played his entire junior career in the Quebec Junior Hockey League . . . Michel Bergeron was his coach while playing with Trois Rivieres as Les Draveurs finished first in 1977-78 and 1978-79 . . . Traded to the Quebec Remparts early in the '79-80 campaign, he stayed there until called up to the NHL by the Nordiques in October of 1980 . . . Best offensive season in juniors was 1978-79 when he notched 17 goals and 57 assists for 74 points in 72 contests.

BACKGROUND: Very physical player, always willing to hit and move opponents from in front of the net . . . Strong checker who won't stray far from his assigned opponent . . . Soft-spoken and unassuming off the ice . . . His father, Pierre, started him skating and taught him the fundamentals of hockey at an early age . . . TOMAS SANDSTROM

Born: September 4, 1964 Jakobstad, Finland
Off-Season Home: Fagersta, Sweden

1988-89: Rapidly developing into a bonafide NHL star, Sandstrom led the Rangers in points (88) and assists (56), both career highs . . . Also paced the team in games played (79), power play goals (11) and power play points (32) while notching at least 25 goals for the fifth consecutive season . . . Consistent performer all season long, he collected at least one point in 53 of his 79 contests, most of any Ranger . . . Missed only the Dec. 23 match when he was sidelined with the flu . . . Recorded three three-assist games, all in the month of October, and recorded a career high four assists in 7-3 victory over the Islanders on Jan. 30 . . . Best point production came at the expense of the Islanders (10 points in seven games) and Penguins (nine points in seven games) and his season's totals vs. Patrick Division teams showed 14 goals and 25 assists . . . Contributed four two-goal efforts and 24 multiple-point games . . . Longest he went without a point was four games from Oct. 10 thru Oct. 19 . . . 52 of his 88 points were accumulated in the second half of the season and he finished the campaign as the team's hottest scorer with seven goals and eight assists in his final 10 contests . . . 50 of his 88 points, including 18 goals were scored at Madison Square Garden . . . Tallied his 300th NHL point on Jan. 19 in St. Louis . . . Ranked second on the Rangers with his 240 shots and his total of 148 penalty minutes was the most of his NHL career . . . Scored a goal in three of the Rangers' four playoff games and tied for the club lead with five points (3-2-5) in four games . . . Selected right after the playoffs to play for Sweden in the World Championships in Stockholm where he appeared in all 10 contests scoring four goals and three assists.

NHL CAREER: Has averaged 31 goals per season and almost 70 points in his first five seasons with New York . . . Led the Rangers in goals each of his first three seasons including 29 in his rookie campaign ('84-85) to finish third among all NHL first-year players behind Mario Lemieux (43) and Warren Young (40) . . . Selected as a member of the league's all-rookie team that year . . . First NHL goal, on opening night in 1984, enabled Rangers to tie Hartford, 4-4, with only 1:09 left in the third period . . . Set a Ranger record in 1986-87 with four hat tricks notching his first career three-goal game on New Year's Eve vs. the Islanders, recording his first four-goal game on Jan. 11 against Vancouver and adding hat tricks on Jan. 14 at Calgary and March 4 vs. the Islanders . . . Collected his 40th goal of the campaign with only one second remaining in April 1 contest against Washington . . . Finished the season with 33 goals in his last 37 matches . . . Played for the NHL All-Stars vs. the Soviet Union in Rendez-Vous '87, but fractured his right ankle in the first game of the series and missed the Rangers next nine outings . . . Comes into the '89-90 season, 22nd on Rangers' all-time point scoring list with 342 and is one of only 21 players in team history to collect over 150 goals.

SWEDISH CAREER: Was only 17 when the Rangers made him their second selection in the 1982 Entry Draft from Farjestads . . . Remained in Sweden, playing for the Brynas team, while attending carpentry school and completing his compulsory seven-month hitch in the Swedish army . . . Scored 70 goals in 111 games during his three years in the Swedish League reaching the 20-goal mark each season . . . Led the Swedish Elite League in penalty minutes in 1983-84 with 81 . . . International experience includes playing on the Swedish Junior team, the Swedish National team and the Olympic Team that captured a bronze medal in Sarajevo in 1984.

BACKGROUND: Born in Jakobstad, Finland, but moved to Fagersta, Sweden when he was a child . . . Spends most of his off-season back home in Sweden where he enjoys golf and tennis . . . Worked as a waiter in a restaurant during part of the past summer . . . Has two brothers and one sister . . . Loves almost all types of music, especially rock and roll from the sixties . . . Attends many concerts . . . Considers himself a pretty fair amateur singer . . . Loves cheesecake . . . Single.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 9, 1982—Rangers second round choice (36th overall) in 1982 Entry Draft.

Went unbeaten in six consecutive starts (5-0-1) from Dec. 26 thru Jan. 7 and won four straight decisions from Feb. 9 thru Mar. 1 . . . Suffered a fractured jaw playing for United States in 1989 World Championships in Stockholm, Sweden following season.

NHL CAREER: Made his NHL debut back on Dec. 5, 1981, a 2-1 victory at Colorado, while just 18 years-old . . . Returned to his junior team (Sault Ste. Marie) following the contest, joining Rangers again for three games at the tailend of the 1983-84 season . . . First full campaign with New York was 1984-85, recording a 12-24-3 mark with eight of his 12 victories coming vs. Patrick Division teams . . . Enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in Rangers history in 1985-86 highlighted by his selection to the NHL first All-Star team and being presented with the Vezina Trophy, awarded to the goalie judged best in the league by the general managers . . . Became the winningest single-season goalie in Ranger history with 31 victories in the regular-season and eight in the playoffs surpassing the 38 chalked up by Eddie Giacomin in 1967-68 . . . His 31 wins tied him with Bob Froese of the Flyers for the NHL lead and his 3.32 average ranked him fifth among the league's goalies . . . Started all 16 playoff games, posting a 3.27 average . . . Appeared in 50 matches in 1986-87 accumulating a record of 18-20-5 with a 3.64 average while facing every team in the league except Chicago . . . 27-22-7 in '87-88 with his 27 victories ranking him fourth in the league . . . Had a career high seven-game (6-0-1) unbeaten streak from Dec. 26 thru Jan. 6 . . . Career total of 119 victories is fifth most in club history, only four short of Chuck Rayner who is fourth with 123.

CHL CAREER: Following his junior career, he joined the Rangers' Central Hockey League affiliate, the Tulsa Oilers, and helped lead them to the league championship in 1983-84 while being selected as the league's co-MVP . . . Was 20-13-2 during the regular season, with the league's second best average (3.46) and was 4-0 in the playoffs with a league leading 2.50 mark . . . Earned three of the seven shutouts that were posted the whole season in the league.

JUNIOR CAREER: Signed as a free agent by the Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds after being bypassed as a 16-year-old in the midget draft . . . In 1980-81 he won the Dinty Moore Trophy awarded to the rookie goalie with the lowest average . . . In 1982-83 he led OHL goaltenders in games (62) and was second in wins (39) as the Greyhounds record of 48-21-1 was the best in the league.

BACKGROUND: Extremely adept at passing the puck, he set a Ranger record for assists by a goalie with five in 1984-85 . . . Suffered severe cuts to his left wrist in June of 1988 in a household accident and underwent microsurgery to repair a laceration to his ulnar nerve . . . Very cooperative in dealing with the media, he was selected for the Rangers Good Guy Award in '84-85 by the New York Chapter of the Professional Hockey Writers Association . . . Involves himself in several charitable endeavors during the off-season . . . Baseball fan of the Detroit Tigers . . . Enjoys softball and golf . . . Married: wife, Rosalinde; son, Ian.

CAREER TRANSACTIONS: June 10, 1981 —Rangers fifth choice (fourth round–72nd overall) in 1981 Entry Draft.

Arrived at Madison Square Garden an hour before game time that day and notched three assists, helping New York to a 5-1 victory over New Jersey . . . The following night in New Jersey, he notched one goal and two assists in a Rangers 7-5 win over the Devils . . . He went on to record the Rangers longest point scoring streak of the season, 14 games, as the streak continued to Jan. 26 . . . Over the 14 game stretch, he recorded seven goals and 17 assists for 24 points and the Rangers had a record of 10-2-2 . . . Totaled 21 goals and 34 assists for 55 points in 41 games with New York, scoring at a rate of 1.34 points per game . . . Registered 11 goals and 11 assists for 22 points in 34 games with the Whalers before coming to New York . . . Overall, his totals of 32 goals and 77 points were career highs and 45 assists were the second best in his NHL career . . . Of his 21 goals with the Rangers 10 came on the power play and three were game-winners . . . Recorded at least one point in 35 of the 41 games he played with the Rangers, including five three-point efforts and four two-goal games . . . Missed three games in February with a wrist injury . . . Notched his 300th NHL point on Jan. 18 at Chicago and his 200th assist on March 15 vs. the Jets . . . As a Ranger, he appeared in 16 games against the Patrick Division and scored eight goals and 17 assists for 25 points . . . Registered one goal and two assists in four playoff games.

NHL CAREER: Originally drafted by the Chicago Blackhawks in the fourth round (67th overall) in the 1980 Entry Draft, he was traded by Chicago to Calgary on Nov. 8, 1982 for Denis Cyr . . . Joined the Flames after playing for the Canadian Olympic Team in 1984 . . . In his first full NHL season (1984-85) he set Calgary rookie records with 48 assists and 72 points . . . Scored a goal on his first shot in his first NHL game, March 1, 1984 vs. Bob Froese of the Philadelphia Flyers . . . Has had two hat tricks during his NHL career, both in the 1985-86 season, Oct. 26 against Detroit and Dec. 10 vs. Los Angeles. Was dealt to the Hartford Whalers along with Neil Sheehy and Lane MacDonald for Dana Murzyn and Shane Churla on January 3, 1988 . . . That season he tallied four game-winning goals with Calgary and five with Hartford for a total of nine game-winners, ranking him second in the National Hockey League.

CANADIAN OLYMPIC TEAM: Registered 14 goals and 23 assists for 37 points in the forty-nine games with the Canadian National Team before the Olympics, then scored five goals and one assist in seven games at Sarajevo . . . Notched a hat trick in the first game of the Olympic competition against the defending gold-medal winning United States team.

COLLEGE AND INTERNATIONAL CAREER: Played two years at Dartmouth College where he scored 25 goals and 35 assists for 60 points in 55 games, before joining Helsinki of the Finnish Hockey League . . . Accumulated 33 goals and 39 assists for 72 points in 75 games in his two years at Helsinki.

BACKGROUND: Has completed pre-med studies at Dartmouth and he takes courses in the summer toward a medical degree . . . Is in excellent condition, he enjoys running triathalons in the summer . . . Has a twin brother, Geoff, who also played professional hockey . . . His father, Dr. Gerry Wilson, was a former vice-president and team doctor of the Winnipeg Jets and was largely responsible for bringing Scandinavian players to the Jets, including Anders Hedberg and Ulf Nilsson . . . Wife, Joan; daughter, Kendall (born in November of 1987).

STEVEN RICE 1/20 RW/R 6-0 212 5/26/71 Kitchener, Ontario
Scored 36 goals and 30 assists for 66 points in 64 games with the Kitchener Rangers of the Ontario Hockey League last season . . . The 36 goals led the club, while his 66 points ranked fourth, as he helped the Rangers to a record of 41-19-6, the best record in the entire OHL . . . Recorded a plus/minus rating of plus 42, second best on the team . . . Eight of his 36 goals came on the power play . . . Very good along the boards and in the corners, he is a tough, physical player that will go to the net . . . Plays an aggressive, but disciplined game . . . A very unselfish player, will take a hit to complete a play.

JASON PROSOFSKY 2/40 RW/R 6-4 220 5/4/71 Medicine Hat, Alberta
Notched seven goals and 16 assists for the Medicine Hat Tigers of the Western Hockey League last season . . . Appeared in 67 of the club's 72 matches . . . Accumulated 170 penalty minutes, fourth most on the team . . . Helped Medicine Hat to a third place finish in the WHL's East Division, with a record of 41-27-4 . . . Big and strong, he is a tough player who is excellent in the corners . . . He is a major force in front of the opposing team's net, at 6-4, 220 pounds, there are not many WHL defensemen that can move him out of the slot area . . . Is a very hard worker, his enthusiasm is a great asset.

ROB ZAMUNER 3/45 C/L 6-2 202 9/17/69 Oakville, Ontario
Led the Guelph Platers in goals (46), assists (65) and points (111) in 66 matches . . . Total of 111 points ranked seventh in the entire Ontario Hockey League and he was named a third team All-Star . . . Ranked as a first-round selection by the Central Scouting Bureau . . . Led the Platers in playoff scoring with five goals and five assists in seven contests . . . Fell one point short of breaking Guelph's single-season scoring record . . . Won the club's plus/minus award with a rating of plus 22 and the Molson Cup three-star award . . . His scoring statistics have gone up in each of his three seasons of major junior hockey . . . Excellent character and a strong team man . . . He is a player that can score several different ways, he has a great scoring touch.

LOUIE DEBRUSK 3/49 LW/L 6-1 201 3/19/71 Cambridge, Ontario
Played his first year of major junior hockey and registered 11 goals and 11 assists for 22 points in 51 games with the London Knights of the Ontario Hockey League . . . Accumulated 149 penalty minutes, third most on the club . . . Named as the Knights Rookie of the Year . . . Helped London to a record of 37-25-4 and third place in the OHL's Emms Division . . . Is a mean, rugged, individual, he can deliver the big hit that turns a game around . . . A big, strong intimidating winger with an excellent slap shot that he can release very quickly.

JIM CUMMINS 4/67 RW/R 6-2 203 5/17/70 Dearborn, Michigan
Completed his freshman year at Michigan State with three goals and nine assists in 36 games . . . Ranked second on the team with 100 penalty minutes . . . Played sparingly in the first half of the season, as he had to work his way into a very strong Michigan State lineup . . . Helped the Spartans to a record of 25-6-1 and a first place finish in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association . . . The club went on to win the CCHA Championship under coach Ron Mason . . . A hard hitting winger who is an intimidating presence on the ice . . . Likes to play in traffic and is an excellent cornerman.

AARON MILLER 5/88 D/R 6-3 175 8/11/71 Buffalo, New York
Led all Niagara Scenic defensemen in scoring last season with 24 goals and 38 assists for 62 points in 59 games . . . Helped the Scenics to 21-13-6 record and second place in the East Division of the North American Hockey League (Junior A) . . . Selected to the first All-Star team of the NAHL . . . Will enter the University of Vermont next season as a freshman . . . First defenseman selected by the Rangers . . . Is a very intelligent defenseman who is not afraid to handle the puck . . . A tough player, he excels at moving men out from in front of the net.

JOBY MESSIER 6/118 D/R 6-0 193 3/2/70 Regina, Saskatchewan
Produced two goals and 10 assists in 39 games during his freshman year at Michigan State . . . Teammate of the Rangers' fourth round selection, Jim Cummins . . . Like Cummins, as a freshman he had to work his way into a very strong Michigan State team . . . Became a steady regular on defense for coach Ron Mason about midway through the season . . . Accumulated 70 minutes in penalties . . . Cousin of Mark Messier of the Edmonton Oilers . . . Helped the Spartans to a record of 25-6-1 and a trip to the final four of the NCAA tournament . . . A rugged, defensive defenseman, he has great size and likes to use it to his advantage.

GREG LEAHY 7/139 C/L 6-3 187 2/19/70 North Bay, Ontario
Scored 28 goals and 49 assists for 77 points in 66 games with the Portland Winter Hawks of the Western Hockey League . . . EDDIE GIACOMIN NIGHT

It was, by all accounts, one of the most emotional and most fitting nights in the 64-year history of the New York Rangers. The date was March 15, 1989, Eddie Giacomin Night, as the Rangers retired Eddie's famous number one jersey and raised it to join the sweater of Rod Gilbert, the only other Ranger to be so honored.

The fans responded as everyone knew they would, with chants of "Ed-dee . . . Ed-dee" punctuating the proceedings just as they had during the Hall of Famer's stellar playing career in New York.

In addition to the fans salutes, a host of gifts awaited the guest of honor in pre-game ceremonies. There was a handsome sculpture of Eddie presented by the current Rangers team, a large-screen television from the Rangers organization, a two-week Hawaii vacation from the Madison Square Garden Corporation, and a gift from the visiting Winnipeg Jets. Earlier that day, Eddie was honored with gifts from the New York Daily News and the Rangers Fan Club.

Rangers broadcaster Marv Albert (above) served as master of ceremonies. In a moving speech, Eddie (below) thanked the fans for their loyal support over the years. Ron Greschner, David Shaw and Kelly Kisio (right) presented Eddie with a handsome sculpture on behalf of players and management. MSG president and chief executive officer Richard H. Evans (far right) presented Eddie with a trip to Hawaii on American Airlines. Below right, Chuck Rayner, Lorne "Gump" Worsley and Gilles Villemure (left to right)—three great Ranger goaltenders—join in Eddie's celebration showing off the replica trophies they received. Each goaltender won a major award in his career with the Rangers.

ENTRY DRAFT . . . The 1990 Entry Draft will be held in mid-June in Vancouver. To be eligible, a player must be at least 18 years old by September 15 of that draft year, and not older than 20 by September 15 of that draft year. Starting in 1987, 18-year-old players were allowed to be selected only in the first three rounds of the draft. A drafted player must be made a bonafide offer by the next draft, or he may be eligible to be drafted again. There is no maximum age for players in Europe who must be drafted before they can sign.

SUPPLEMENTAL DRAFT . . . The 1990 Supplemental Draft will be held prior to the Entry Draft. To be eligible, a player must be 21 or older; never have been claimed in an Entry Draft; never have played professionally; and must have played for at least one season in college in North America when he was age 18, 19 or 20. Free Agents eligible for the Supplemental Draft shall be ineligible to play in the NHL unless they were claimed in the Supplemental Draft and signed to an NHL contract prior to the start of the next NHL regular season.

FREE AGENT ELIGIBILITY (without compensation) . . . A player must be 24 years of age or have played pro for five years. If the player is going into the option year of his contract, and has been tendered a termination contract from his team by June 1st, he would play out his option year and become a free agent without compensation by the following June 30th. He may decline to play out his option year with that team, within 10 days of receiving his termination contract, and become a free agent without compensation.

FREE AGENT ELIGIBILITY (with compensation) . . . Beginning in 1987, a player, who meets the above requirements and is playing out his option year, receives a contract offer from his club of at least $110,000 by June 30 and declines that offer, becomes a free agent with compensation.

If another club signs him, that team must compensate his former club with draft picks, cash, or both, depending on the size of the contract. If the contract is for between . . .
$110,000–$135,000 . . . third round draft pick
$135,000–$160,000 . . . second and third round picks
$160,000–$210,000 . . . first round pick
$210,000–$260,000 . . . first and second round picks
$260,000–$400,000 . . . two first round picks (one in top 11 overall) and $100,000
Over $400,000 . . . two first round picks (one in top seven overall) and $100,000

GOALS-AGAINST AVERAGE . . . To figure, multiply goals-against (GA) by 60 and divide this result by the minutes played (Mins.).

PLUS-MINUS . . . A player receives a "plus" if he is on the ice for an even-strength or shorthanded goal by his team. He recieves a "minus" when on the ice for an even-strength, or shorthanded goal scored by the opposing team. The plus-minus is determined by totaling all the pluses and all the minuses.

ROOKIE QUALIFICATIONS . . . To be considered a rookie, a player must not have played in 25 or more NHL games in any preceding season, nor in six or more NHL games in each of any two preceding seasons.

SAVE PERCENTAGE . . . To determine, subtract goals-against (GA) from shots-against (SA) to find saves made. Then divide saves by shots-against (SA).

TIE-BREAKER PROCEDURE . . . When a tie in points occurs in the standings, the following steps determine the higher positions: 1) most wins; 2) most points earned in games between tied teams; 3) best difference between goals for and goals against over the entire 80-game championship season; 4) special emergency G.M. meeting or conference call.

TRADING DEADLINE . . . The 26th day preceding the final day of the NHL regular season is the deadline for trades, as well as loans to and recalls from minor league clubs.

WAIVER DRAFT . . . Held on the final Monday or Tuesday before the start of the regular season. NHL clubs are allowed to protect 18 players and two goaltenders from this draft. Players on that team's reserve list, under contract, who have completed at least two years pro, must be protected or are eligible to be drafted. Goalies on the club's reserve list and under contract, who have completed three pro seasons, must be protected or they can be drafted. If a player is picked from a team, that team can protect another player. A team can not lose more than three players or one goaltender.

THE RANGERS FIGHT CHILD ABUSE

For the past eight seasons, the New York Rangers have helped raise money for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect. The Rangers first got involved in the charity in 1983 when David Rothenberg, a young boy from Brooklyn, was set on fire and locked in a hotel room by his father. The Rangers wives found out that David was a Rangers fan and brought him to a game at the Garden. After the game, he was brought down to the Rangers locker-room, introduced to all of the players, and given a jersey. Later he told his mother he had made some new friends and for the first time he slept without pain that night.

Ever since that time, the Rangers campaign to fight Child Abuse has grown each year.

The team has numerous events each year to benefit the charity, including the Exchange Club of Westchester's annual salute to the Rangers and "Tip-A-Player" nights, where the players serve as waiters.

Last year the salute to the Rangers dinner, held at the Westchester Marriott Hotel, raised over $45,000 and "Tip-A-Player" night, held at Steve's Wortendyke Inn in Midland Park, New Jersey, raised over $25,000.

RANGERS ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Now in its eighth season—and with a motto of "Keeping in Touch with Tradition"—the Rangers Alumni Association has become an increasingly more visible organization. Throughout each season, members of the Alumni Association play in charity softball and hockey games; they conduct a golf and tennis tournament each summer; and are generally very active in community affairs. Over the past eight years, the Rangers Alumni Association has raised more than $85,000 for various charities. Last winter, the Rangers alumni team took on the Hartford Whalers alumni team in a hockey game in Hartford, Connecticut. Above left, Ulf Nilsson stickhandles in traffic. Above center, Dave Maloney (left) congratulates Pat Hickey after a Rangers goal. Above right, Rod Gilbert, the all-time leading scorer in Rangers history, goes to the slot area looking to add another goal to his collection. Below left, former Rangers goaltender and current broadcaster for Madison Square Garden Network John Davidson, watches his drive hook to the left at the golf and tennis event. Below right, Pete Stemkowski follows through on a drive.

RANGERS FAN CLUB

Now in its 41st season—and with more than 650 members—the Rangers Fan Club is one of the most active clubs of its kind in the entire National Hockey League. Their extensive list of activities include monthly meetings at the Workmen's Circle at 45 East 33rd Street; the fan club dinner dance, where fans can sign up to dine with the players; a regularly-published newsletter; season-ending awards and trips to watch the Rangers play on the road (this season trips are scheduled for Toronto and Montreal). In addition, the RFC often assists the Rangers organization with various charitable activities. Last season the RFC and the Rangers raised more than 2000 toys and over $3000 at the Toys for Tots campaign to get toys to underprivileged children at Christmas time and over 5000 pounds of food for Athletes Against Hunger to help feed the hungry of New York City.

For information on joining the Fan Club, fans can write to: Rangers Fan Club, G.P.O. Box 1772, NY, NY 10001.

A "SPECIAL" AWARD

Following the 1987-88 season, the Rangers —in conjunction with Mitsubishi Motors— presented a new award dedicated to paralyzed New York City police officer Steven McDonald called the Steven McDonald Extra Effort award for the Ranger player "who goes above and beyond the call of duty." The inaugural winner was left wing Jan Erixon. For last season, the winner—as voted by the fans—was Tony Granato, who received a brand new Mitsubishi Eclipse GS Turbo. Above left, Don Lavin (right), eastern sales manager of Mitsubishi Motors, presents Steven (left), his wife Patti and their son, Conor with a check for $15,000 that was raised by Mitsubishi donating $50 for every Rangers goal to the Steven McDonald Foundation. The smaller trophy goes to the winner and the larger is on display at the Rangers training facility in Rye, New York. Below, Tony—in front of his new automobile—tells Conor to look at the camera.

THE RANGERS — AND SOME FAMILIAR FACES — TEAM UP FOR CHARITY

The New York Rangers are involved in a wide range of civic and charitable causes throughout the community, as the players are always willing to lend their time for a worthy cause. Each December, the city has a Christmas Party for the families of police officers that were killed in the line of duty. Above left, Normand Rochefort (third from right) poses with Mayor Ed Koch (far left) and some of the family members at last year's annual party. Playland

Rye, New York

OFFICIAL TRAINING CAMP SITE AND PRACTICE FACILITY OF THE NEW YORK RANGERS

For the past 10 years the New York Rangers have held their training base and practice facility at Rye Playland's Ice Casino. Playland is one of the summer's hottest attractions, an amusement park featuring a rollercoaster named "The Dragon Coaster." Several times each season the Rangers hold open practice sessions at the Ice Casino. About 1000 fans watch the Rangers practice and when the session is over the players will usually stay on the ice to give away sticks and pucks and sign autographs.

HELPING THE CHILDREN

Each month during the season the Rangers players, usually five or six at a time, visit with children at a local hospital. The players cheer up the youngsters by bringing all types of gifts and spending two to three hours talking and playing with them. The program is not something that brings happiness just to the children—but to the players as well. Above, Tony Granato (left) and Tomas Sandstrom sign some autographs for a patient. Below, Jan Erixon, Ulf Dahlen and Brian Leetch (left to right) cheer up an ailing baby (in nurse's arms) at the Westchester Medical Center, also in Valhalla, New York.

ICE HOCKEY IN HARLEM

The Upward Fund/Ice Hockey In Harlem program—now in its third year—is an organization that strives for academic and athletic excellence for inner city youngsters. Every Tuesday evening an ice hockey clinic is put on at Lasker Rink in Central Park. Last season John Vanbiesbrouck and Brian Mullen joined former Ranger Ulf Nilsson at one of the clinics. The athletes worked with the youths for over two hours teaching them the fundamentals of the game. Above left, Nilsson demonstrates passing. Above right, Vanbiesbrouck trades in his goalie stick and shows the youngsters how to take a wrist shot. Below, all of the participants whoop it up after the clinic.

KNUCKLES AND BEEZER TEAM UP FOR CHARITY

On August 21, goaltender John Vanbiesbrouck and right wing Chris Nilan held a golf tournament at the Willow Ridge Country Club in Harrison, New York, to aid the Alan T. Brown Foundation to cure paralysis. Through the hard work of John and Chris the outing was a smash success, raising over $150,000 for the charity. Top left, Beezer (left) and Knuckles (right) pose with Alan Brown. Top right, John tries to put his drive in the fairway. Left, Tony Granato (left), who is not known as a great golfer, gets some tips from Chris. Below, broadcaster Sam Rosen, John and Chris get ready to present awards to the day's winners.

Paul Theriault

Head Coach

New Ranger vice-president and general manager Neil Smith was on the job less than a month when he sat at a press conference in mid-August with a very big smile on his face. He had just introduced his new management team, which included the Ranger development coach, Paul Theriault, who will coach the Flint Spirits.

"One of my first thoughts after getting the job was to bring Paul in to coach our development club, but I wasn't sure I could get him," said Smith. "To say I'm thrilled that he is here today would be an understatement."

Known as one of the finest teachers in hockey today, Theriault's main responsibility will be to prepare the younger players for the National Hockey League.

"My role is to create the proper environment for improvement of these young players so they can advance to the big club," said Theriault.

Theriault's credentials are very impressive. For nine of the last 10 years he has guided the Oshawa Generals of the Ontario Hockey League. His Oshawa teams never had a winning percentage below .500, finished with 36 or more wins seven times and third place or higher on six occasions. Twice the Generals won the OHL playoff championship and advanced to the Memorial Cup (Canadian Junior championship) finals (1983, 1987). What is most impressive however is the list of players he coached who went on to the National Hockey League.

Wayne Gretzky, Craig Hartsburg, Paul Coffey, Jeff Hackett, Kirk McLean, Peter Sidorkiewicz, Roland Melanson, Greg Stefan, Dave Andreychuk, Tony Tanti, John MacLean, Dale Degray, Steve Konroyd, Lee Norwood, Joe Cirella, Derek King and Greg Millen have all played for Theriault at one time or another.

Theriault began his coaching career while attending Lake Superior State college. A skull fracture ended his playing days and after recovering he coached the Lake Superior junior varsity team and helped out with the varsity squad. He then served as a graduate assistant while earning his masters degree in physical education at Western Michigan University.

His first head coaching position was with Sault Ste. Marie (OHL) during the 1977-78 season. Theriault took the reins with just 10 games remaining and needed eight wins to qualify for the playoffs. The Greyhounds went 8-2-0 under Theriault's guidance and entered the OHL playoffs.

The Sault Ste. Marie native remained with the Greyhounds one more season before moving to Oshawa in 1979. Aside from the 1980-81 season which he spent coaching in West Germany the 39-year-old guided the Generals through the 1988-89 season.

Theriault and his wife, Janice, will make their home in the Flint area.

Don Waddell

Assistant General Manager/ Director of Operations

As a player, coach and general manager, Don Waddell has been associated with the Flint Spirits for parts of the last five years. This season Waddell will become the team's assistant general manager/director of operations and he will be a key ingredient in New York's affiliation with the International Hockey League team.

"I don't know the league," said Rangers vice-president and general manager Neil Smith. "No one does on our staff as well as Don does. He is a great asset for us."

Waddell began his career with the Flint Spirits as a player during the 1984-85 season when he split time between Flint and the Toledo Goaldiggers, also of the IHL. He returned to the team at the end of the 1986-87 campaign and the next season took on the dual responsibility of player/assistant coach. The Spirits went to the IHL's Turner Cup finals under Waddell's and head coach Rick Dudley's guidance. The next year he became the team's general manager and coach, overseeing all on and off ice activities of the team.

"In this agreement, there was a chance that Don wouldn't be in the hockey picture at all," said Smith, who will also serve as general manager of the Spirits. "That didn't strike me as a very good move on our behalf to let a really astute hockey person sit back and take care of business only and have nothing to do with hockey evaluations and player movement."

A graduate of Northern Michigan University with a degree in business management, Waddell was a standout defenseman with the Wildcats from 1976-80. He earned Central Collegiate Hockey Association first all-star team honors in 1978, 1979 and 1980 and was the CCHA Most Valuable Player in 1978. The Detroit native still holds the league record for most career goals by a defenseman.

Drafted by the Los Angeles Kings in the sixth round in 1978, Waddell played briefly with the Kings during the 1980-81 season. The 31-year-old's playing highlights also include the U.S. National Team which prepared for the 1980 Olympics, Houston of the Central Hockey League, Saginaw of the IHL, U.S. National Team which won World Championships played in Tokyo in 1982-83 and the New Haven Nighthawks of the AHL.

Don and his wife, Cheryl, have one daughter, Chelsea.

On July 20, the Rangers announced a one-year full working agreement with the International Hockey League's Flint Spirits.

"The facilities in Flint are excellent for our purposes," said Rangers vice-president and general manager Neil Smith. "The Flint operation is first class."

A few weeks later Smith introduced head coach Paul Theriault and assistant general manager/director of operations Don Waddell at a press conference at the I.M.A. Sports Arena (pg. 156-157).

A CAPSULE HISTORY OF MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

Madison Square Garden is well into its second century as the world's most famous sports and entertainment center.

A New York City landmark since 1879, the Garden moved in 1968 to its third site and fourth building, located in midtown Manhattan at Pennsylvania Plaza, bounded by Seventh and Eighth Avenues and 31st and 33rd Streets and standing above Pennsylvania Station The home of the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association and the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, the Garden annually welcomes some four million guests to more than 400 events.

Madison Square Garden is currently undergoing an extensive renovation of its entire facility to create a state-of-the-art showplace which will include the 20,000-seat Arena and a new, 6,000-seat Forum Theater. The renewal project is scheduled for completion in September 1991.

The first Garden was located at Madison Square, 26th Street and Madison Avenue. The building, which had 28-foot walls without a roof, was officially named Madison Square Garden May 31, 1879, after being preceded at the site by P.T. Barnum's "Monster Classical and Geological Hippodrome" and "Gilmore's Garden's," named for noted band impresario Patrick S. Gilmore.

When problems with the first Garden became too much to overcome, a corporation was organized to construct a new building. Demolition of the old structure began in 1889 and a new, roofed Garden with a 320-foot tower designed by famed New York architect Stanford White was opened June 16, 1890 with a concert by Viennese conductor Eduard Strauss and his orchestra.

Thirty-four years later, Garden II came to its end when the New York Life Insurance Company, which held a mortgage on the land, decided to tear down the building in 1924. George (Tex) Rickard, a well-known boxing promoter, organized a group to undertake the construction of another Garden at a different location.

The third Garden replaced trolley car barns on a site between 49th and 50th Streets on Eighth Avenue. The building was constructed in 249 days and opened unofficially November 28, 1925 with the six-day bike races. The official opening event, on December 15, was a professional hockey game with the Montreal Canadiens defeating the New York Americans, 3-1. Under the leadership of Rickard and, later, General John Reed Kilpatrick, Ned Irish and Irving Mitchell Felt, the Garden steadily increased in stature.

In 1960, plans were announced for the new Madison Square Garden Center. The site above Pennsylvania Station was chosen for the Garden's new home and the construction process, including the demolition of the old above-ground railroad terminal, began in 1965. Garden IV opened as a glittering sports and entertainment showplace, with its distinctive circular, cable-suspended roof above the Arena and an adjacent 29-story office building, on February 11, 1968 with a superstar-studded "Salute to the USO" concert. Madison Square Garden celebrated its centennial anniversary on May 31, 1979.

Madison Square Garden is operated by the MSG Facilities Development and Management Group of Madison Square Garden Corporation, a Paramount Communications company.

A Brief History of The New York Rangers

The Rangers' Official Emblem

One of the proudest and most historic franchises in the National Hockey League. That's the New York Rangers, who are embarking on their 64th season of National Hockey League play in 1989-90.

The new season clearly marks the beginning of a brand new era in the storied history of the Rangers. The naming of Neil Smith as vice-president and general manager of the team last July and his subsequent appointment of an entirely new management team, including the appointment of head coach Roger Neilson, directs the Rangers toward the decade of the 1990s.

Back in the 1920s and 1930s, the Rangers were known as "the classiest team in hockey," and the description was certainly an accurate one. In fact, few sporting teams have come into existence with such a wave of success.

Under the astute managership and coaching of Lester Patrick, hockey's famed "Silver Fox," the Rangers were nearly unbeatable in those early years.

Actually, the birth of the Rangers was something of a team effort that involved Patrick, Madison Square Garden fight promoter Tex Rickard and Conn Smythe, then a successful hockey man in Toronto.

Rickard had become fascinated with hockey, and was convinced the game would be enthusiastically supported in the Garden, the world's premier sports arena that had opened its doors just a year earlier.

The team was jocularly called "Tex's Rangers," and the latter part of the name stuck.

Soon after the puck got rolling in New York, Smythe resigned and was quickly replaced by Patrick, the widely known hockey promoter and innovator who came to New York from the defunct Pacific Coast Hockey Association.

Patrick worked his magic from the very start. The Rangers were an instant smash, both on the ice and at the box office, as New Yorkers immediately took to hockey. Ranger games were the place to be in those days, and the club attracted a formal, "dinner-jacket" crowd to the games, which began at 8:45 P.M. The fans were headed by no less a personage than the Mayor of New York himself, the Honorable Jimmy Walker.

In their first 16 seasons, the Rangers missed the playoffs only once, and only twice did they fall lower than third place. New York won three regular-season championships in that span, finished second five times and third on six other occasions. They also won three Stanley Cups.

In short, the Rangers built an empire, and New Yorkers loved every minute of it.

The Original Rangers were led by the Cook brothers, Bill and Bun, and Frank Boucher, who won the Lady Byng Trophy so many times the league finally gave it to him permanently. Among the "originals," Bill Cook, Boucher, and colorful defenseman Ching Johnson all made it to the Hockey Hall of Fame.

As the "originals" started to fade out, they were replaced by another stellar group of Ranger stars. Boucher was now coaching the club, while Lester Patrick concentrated on the managerial chores.

Once again, New Yorkers had a brother combination to cheer for. This time it was Neil and Mac Colville, and Alex Shibicky was their linemate. High-scoring Bryan Hextall, fiery Phil Watson, the Patrick brothers, Lynn and Muzz, goalie Dave Kerr, and defensemen Babe Pratt and Art Coulter were all stalwarts of that era.

World War II broke up the gang of Ranger All-Stars, but despite the fall in the team's fortunes after the war, there were still many individual stars on Broadway. Chuck Rayner, Buddy O'Connor, Edgar Laprade, Hy Buller, and Bones Raleigh were standouts in the late Forties and early Fifties.

The arrival of Andy Bathgate in New York signalled another era in Ranger history. Bathgate, twice a first team All-Star, and then the holder of most Ranger scoring records, was the Rangers' superstar for almost a decade. Little Camille Henry, goalie Gump Worsley, Harry Howell, and Dean Prentice were other fans' favorites.

Some 10 years later, another star right wing heralded the Rangers' newest era. Rod Gilbert eventually eclipsed all of Bathgate's scoring records with the club, and played a decade and a half of stellar hockey in New York.

Other stars of that era included Gilbert's linemates, Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield, goalie Ed Giacomin, defenseman Brad Park, and center Walt Tkaczuk.

New stars like Anders Hedberg, Ulf Nilsson, Barry Beck, Ron Greschner, Phil Esposito, John Davidson, and the Maloney brothers, Dave and Don, ushered the Rangers into a decade of the 1980s. The team dramatically marched to the Stanley Cup Finals in 1979, and showed real signs of returning to the days of past glory.

Future glory—in the form of the Stanley Cup—is the clear goal of the Rangers'. Neil Smith and his management team are committed to that.

Says Smith: "Stability and a hard work ethic will bring the Stanley Cup to New York. When? We'll have to wait and see. But the reason it will come is because we're creating a stable environment and from that, winning will come."

Spoken like a man who knows how to win, who has won before, and is now the vice-president and general manager of the New York Rangers, only the ninth man to hold that position in the 64-year history of the Rangers.

Rangers On-Air Team Boasts A Strong Lineup

Marv Albert

Bruce Beck

John Davidson

Sal Messina

Howie Rose

Sam Rosen

Away from the ice and up in the broadcast booth, the Rangers have another star-studded lineup. Whether on radio or on television, at home or on the road, the Rangers are well-covered in the talent department by: Marv Albert, Bruce Beck, John Davidson, Sal Messina, Howie Rose and Sam Rosen.

Follow the Rangers—and their off-ice lineup—all season long on Madison Square Garden Network and WFAN-Radio (66-AM). Consult your local radio and television listings for games being carried, game times, and station information.
